

WE PURSUE INTEGRITY

We have reputations worth repeating. We can freely say, “Be imitators of me, as I imitate Christ,” as every day we strive to look more like Jesus.

As children of the light, our lives are submitted to the Spirit and are marked by the self-discipline that is a fruit of His work in our lives. We seek to live honorably in every way, above reproach in all things.

We live lives worthy of the calling we have received. We fiercely guard our integrity, knowing that our adversary prowls around, looking to exploit our weaknesses. We arm ourselves with transparent honesty and scrupulous accountability, and protect ourselves with welcome discipline.

We say “yes” with integrity, and do what we say we will do.

Because we are leaders, people will hear our words—but they will follow our example. We strive, then, for apologetic integrity that will point people to Jesus. We are the same people at church, at home, and behind the steering wheel.

Do my words and actions reflect the character of Christ?

“Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children.” Ephesians 5:1

“Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ.” 1 Corinthians 11:1
